

Has the identity of the Yasharalite nation been lost?

- Scholars that recognize the true origins of the modern “Jews” erroneously conclude that the Yasharalite nation has become imperceptible and is virtually nonexistent. Yahuah, the Mighty One of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, speaks to the contrary.

“Thus said the Master Yahuah, ‘See, I am taking the children of Yasharal from among the nations wherever they have gone, and shall gather them from all around, and I shall bring them into their land. And I shall make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Yasharal. (Ezekiel 37:21-22a)

What does the Yasharalite national identity crisis have to do with black people in America (and many other black people all over the world)?

- Black people are the only racial group in America that does not possess a national identity.

Lost identity has propelled black people in America into a perpetual state of crisis. This crisis is manifested in various forms.

- Devaluation of black life
- Racial discrimination in the employment sector
- Disproportionately high incarceration rates for black males
- Violence among black people in the inner city
- Generational poverty

Common myths about the national identity of black Americans:

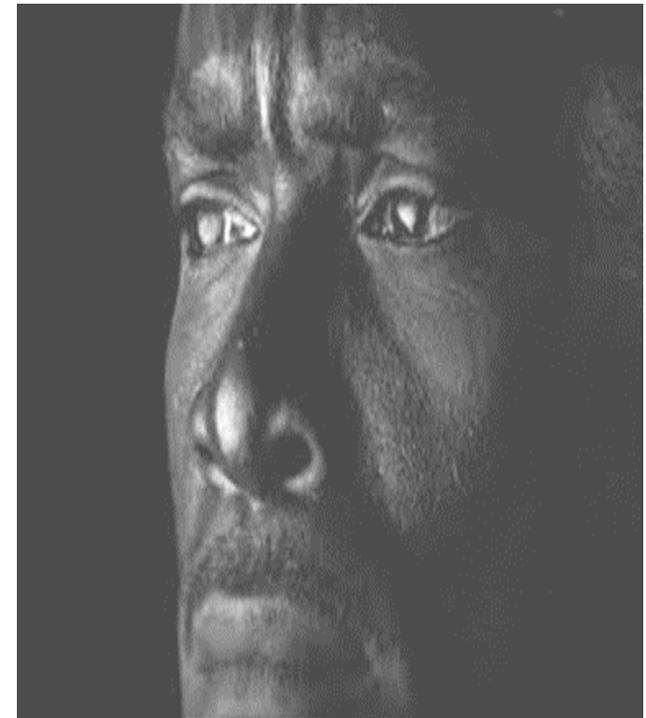

- Black people in America are “Africans.”
 - ◊ Africa is a continent consisting of many nations and tribes.
- All black people are the descendants of Ham, the youngest son of Noah.
 - ◊ According to the Zondervan Bible Dictionary, Ham is the “progenitor of the dark races; not the Negroes, but the Egyptians, Ethiopians, Libyans and Canaanites.”
- Black people in America are so mixed with European nations that their national origin is unidentifiable.
 - ◊ If this were the case black Americans as a whole would appear as a mixed race group. We have retained many of our distinctive physical features.

Is it possible to determine the national identity of black people in America?

Ya·shar·al: the straight, upright ones of Yahuah Alahym na·tion·al: of or relating to an entire nation or country iden·ti·ty: who someone is, the name of a person or (group)

cri·sis: a difficult or dangerous situation that needs serious attention

Why is national identity important?

- It provides an individual with a sense of belonging to something greater than oneself.
- It allows one to understand one's destiny.
- It creates continuity of a nation's cultural distinction.
- It binds one to the governance of a nation.
- It cultivates a sense of accountability and responsibility to the nation of origin.

What is the crisis concerning the Yasharalite national identity?

- The Yasharalite national identity has been stolen!
- The Yasharalite nation is in a state of temporary "amnesia;" and, thus has forgotten who they are.
- The Yasharalites have neglected the covenant established with them by the Mighty One of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

"Jews" have treacherously laid claim to the Yasharalite national identity.

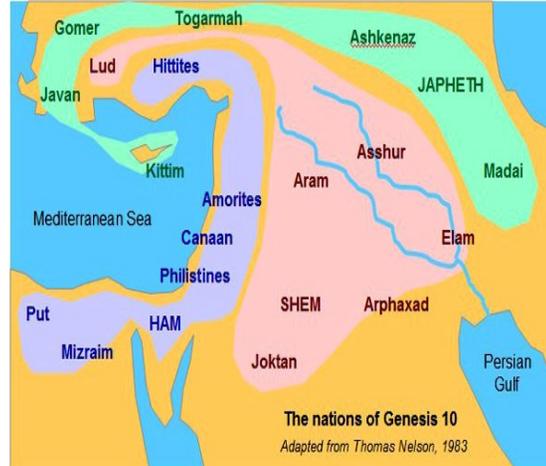

- Historical evidence indicates that the modern "Jew" is actually of Turkish origin and descended from the ancient Khazar Empire, which was located north of the Caucasus Mountains between the Black and Caspian Seas.
- These Khazars converted to Judaism in the eighth century and emigrated into Eastern and Central Europe following the fall of the empire.

- According to the Hebrew University of Jerusalem "Ashkenazi "Jews," those "Jews" of Eastern European origin, constitute more than eighty percent of all world "Jewry.""
- In 1948 the United Nations created a "homeland" for a people that had no rights to land in the Middle East.

"You (the "Jews") will never be able to live here in peace, because you left here (Palestine) black and came back white. We cannot accept you!"

-Gamel Abdel Nasser
President of Egypt
(1956-1970)

The Bible bears witness to the fact that these "Jews" are not descended from the original twelve tribes of Yasharal.

- "Japheth, son of Noah, fathered Gomer and Gomer fathered Ashkenaz... and Togarmah... From these the coastland peoples of the nations were separated into their lands." (Genesis 10:2,3,5)

- King Joseph of the Khazars claimed that he and his countrymen descended from Togarmah.
- Shem, son of Noah, fathered Arpakshad who was a direct ancestor of Abraham. Abraham was the grandfather of Jacob, who then became the father of the twelve tribes of Yasharal. (Genesis 11:10-26)

The word "Jew"

The word "Jew" is in no way connected to the Biblical Hebrews descended from Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Yasharalites were never called "Jews."

- The word "Jew" has only been in existence since 1775.
- "Prior to the year 1775 the word "Jew" did not exist in any language." (Benjamin Freedman)
- The use of the word "Jew" in the Bible was not established until the 18th century editions of the book.

How have "Jews" been able to fraudulently assume the national identity of the Yasharalite nation?

- As a result of the Yasharalite nation's failure to guard the covenant, the nation is currently scattered throughout the world. This is known as the Yasharalite Diaspora. The Yasharalite nation has been dispossessed from the land of their inheritance. The land is currently inhabited by gentile nations.
- The Yasharalites have lost their identity while in the diaspora. This has made it easy for the "Jews" to claim the Yasharalite national identity.
