

A Trucker's Guide to Being Set-Apart: Volume II – People Will Speak Ill of You

Shalum my fellow believers and brothers in the faith! This is a continuance of my first letter to keep you informed of my journeys in the world of truck driving. My last letter was about being set-apart even when you're away from your family and local assembly. Well, this week rolled around and I was delivering in locations outside of my home state. One of the customer managers called my dispatcher asking if I was capable of doing my job. His dissatisfaction with me stemmed from the fact that I asked a question about the delivery I had to make for his organization. I always thought it was better to ask the question than to assume anything. I guess I was wrong. Go figure. Anyway, my dispatcher then called me and asked me if I could "do [my] job." I was annoyed that my dispatcher would question my work ethic. As a man of Yahuwah, I believe that I should go above and beyond the world's expectations because my help comes from Yahuwah.

My initial reaction to this situation was one of anger because here I am on the east coast going through wind, rain, sleet and on top of it all traffic jams! I had to deal with people cutting me off, cursing at me and speaking ill of me. In the midst of all of this I was able to look to the scripture for encouragement. In Tehillim 38:12 it says "And those seeking my life lay a snare; and those seeking my evil have spoken of destruction..." Even though the customer manager tried to speak evil of me, Yahuwah hears those who trust in His promises. No matter what people say or try to do lean on Yahuwah and he will take care of you. I am a witness. He continues to take care of me each day and on each delivery I make. He got me through this situation and I praise Him always.

In closing, I'll leave you with Tehillim 37:5-6, "Commit your way to Yahuwah, and trust in Him, and He does it. And he shall bring forth your righteousness as the light, and your right-ruling as midday." Till next time, this is AAPreacherman signing off.

Shalum,
Bro. Aharon Arnold
